What St Hugh's do to prevent bullying

As a school we encourage students to take responsibility for their own actions towards others. We do not dismiss the seriousness of their actions by 'we were only or it was only a joke' .

Reinforce through teaching groups and smaller groups that aggressive, violent, prejudice or cruel behaviour is not acceptable, we always challenge students regarding inappropriate behaviours towards others.

We also use social stories to support students in their understanding of what bullying is.

We encourage students to take a positive stance against bullying by always telling an adult what is going on. We also teach our students how to deal with various situations involving bullying, observing others being bullied, teaching them to say STOP and to use assertive body language. We also teach our students about keeping safe on the internet/mobile phones. We also have student support mentors in school to support students and also a positive school council to support any student feeling left out/alone/isolated.

A bullying questionnaire is completed annually by every student and if there are any issues they are picked up by the TA, Key staff in school, Key stage phase leaders or SLT

Everyone involved in the life of St Hugh's school should take responsibility for tackling bullying behaviour. This includes providing good role models, being consistent in the application of the anti-bullying policy and by fostering a clear understanding that we disapprove of unacceptable behaviour.
